Coach Sullivan,

I hope you're enjoying the sunny weather down south. This is Jed Barkin from Atlanta, Georgia just giving you an update on my summer traveling season and some updated hitting footage from my games this past weekend in Chattanooga, TN. I know you are in the busiest time of your season and appreciate you taking a few minutes to take a look.

Great concise re-intro to yourself!

As in my previous emails to you, I go to Woodward Academy in Atlanta, Georgia. I have a GPA of 3.81, and am taking 3 AP courses right now in my sophomore year. Besides academics being my number one priority, I have enjoyed diving into a few different extracurriculars at Woodward. I am the president of the athletic committee, yearbook editor, and tour guide ambassador for my school.

This is a great pivot to your academics but this is where most emails get wordy. These paragraphs can be combined or in bullet form.

Add high school & travel ball stats and accomplishments from this season

As president of our athletic committee, I oversee all members and operate events for all student athletes on our campus. Most recently I implemented a monthly speaker to come to our school and speak to all student-athletes about mental health. I saw that your team recently had a game dedicated to a mental health cause and I appreciated that you are continuing the conversation!

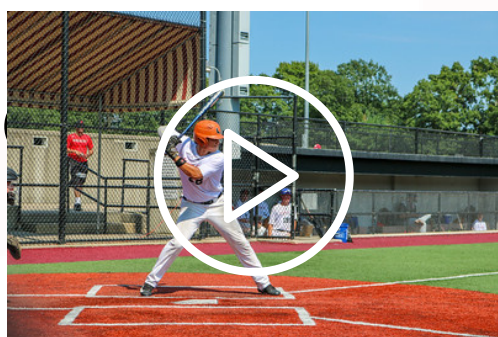

Good Paragraph - getting familiar with the program. Use this paragraph as a way to comment on recent team, coach or college accomplishments. EX. "Congratulations on your 300th win!"

E.g., Good place to add summer schedule. Show showcases that you and the attending coach may both be attending

I am interested in your economics program, and I would love to learn more about the opportunity of being a part of your program. I see that many of your athletes are economics majors, and I would like to hear more about some of their experiences in this program.

As noted previously, I have a few updated hitting videos from my games this past weekend in Chattanooga.

Perfect!

Thank you again for your time, and I look forward to tuning in to your games this weekend against Stanford.

Don't forget to add all contact information at the bottom of your emails!

Best,
Jed Barkin

From the Desk of
COACH EXETER

When emailing a coach of a college at the top of your list it is imperative to have a thoughtful and informative message. Be direct and concise regarding your recent baseball and academic performances. Rather than a 5 paragraph essay provide a profile attachment or link they can look at when needed. Coaches want information without too many clicks and sentences. This shows that you have an understanding of the process that they (the coaches) are going through.

These days, coaches are receiving hundreds of emails per day/week. So, find an attention-grabber with metrics, GPA, SAT's and easy to view video and game footage. Simple sells.

Coach Sullivan,

Congrats on your 400th win! This is Jed Barkin from Atlanta, Georgia providing an update on my summer travel ball season and some updated hitting footage from my games this past weekend in Chattanooga, TN. I know you are in the busiest time of your season (and gearing up for your series at Stanford this weekend). I appreciate you taking a few minutes to have a look.

Here's a rundown of what I've been up to at school recently:

- Academic:
 - Rising Junior ('25) at Woodward Academy in Atlanta, Georgia
 - Current GPA 3.81 (unweighted)
 - Three AP's in progress this spring
- Athletic:
 - I run a 6.8 60-yd.; personal best exit velocity is 89mph
 - Starting Varsity CF
 - Recently awarded team MVP for the season + First Team All-Conference
 - Below is a link to some recent video at the plate
- Off the field:
 - President of our student athletic committee
 - Yearbook Editor
 - Tour guide ambassador at Woodward

As President of our athletic committee, I oversee all members and events. One of our recent projects was a monthly visiting speaker on topics around mental health. It was great to see that your team dedicated a game this spring to a mental health cause. Thanks for continuing the conversation!

Here are some of the places I'll be playing this summer:

- Southwest Summer Kickoff: June 10-12 (Mesa, AZ)
- Steel Sports Father's Day Classic: June 17-19 (Long Island, NY)
- Headfirst Honor Roll Camps - NY Session 5 - August 7-8 (Long Island, NY)

Updated hitting videos (April 20-21, 2023 in Chattanooga):

I look forward to tuning in this weekend vs. Stanford. Thank you again for your time!

Best,
Jed Barkin ('25)
